

Internet Usage Agreement

Kevin Belanger
Systems Administrator

Disclaimer ⇄

The Internet is a constantly growing worldwide network of computers and servers that contain millions of pages of information. Users are cautioned that many of these pages include offensive, sexually explicit, and inappropriate material. Users are further cautioned that it is difficult to avoid at least some contact with this material while using the Internet. Even innocuous search requests may lead to sites with highly offensive content. Additionally, having an e-mail address on the Internet may lead to receipt of unsolicited e-mail containing offensive content. Employees and users (herein referred to as "Users," or "User") accessing the Internet do so at their own risk and understand and agree that CPCS (herein referred to as "Company," or "The Company") is not responsible for material viewed or downloaded by users from the Internet. To minimize these risks, your use of the Internet at The Company is governed by the following policy:

Permitted Use of Internet and Company computer network

The computer network is the property of The Company and is to be used for legitimate business purposes. Users are provided access to the computer network to assist them in the performance of their jobs. Additionally, certain Users may also be provided with access to the Internet through the computer network. All Users have a responsibility to use The Company's computer resources and the Internet in a professional, lawful and ethical manner. Abuse of the computer network or the Internet, may result in disciplinary action, including possible termination, and civil and/or criminal liability.

Computer Network Use Limitations

PROHIBITED ACTIVITIES: Without prior written permission from The Company, The Company's computer network may not be used to disseminate, view or store commercial or personal advertisements, solicitations, promotions, destructive code (e.g., viruses, Trojan horse programs, etc.) or any other unauthorized materials. Occasional limited appropriate personal use of the computer is permitted if such use does not a) interfere with the User's or any other employee's job performance; b) have an undue effect on the computer or company network's performance; c) or violate any other policies, provisions, guidelines or standards of this agreement or any other of the Company. Further, at all times users are responsible for the professional, ethical and lawful use of the computer system. Personal use of the computer is a privilege that may be revoked at any time. No device not belonging to The Company may be connected to The Company network without the express permission of the IT Department.

ILLEGAL COPYING: Users may not illegally copy material protected under copyright law or make that material available to others for copying. You are responsible for complying with copyright law and applicable licenses that may apply to software, files, graphics, documents, messages, and other material you wish to download or copy. You may not agree to a license or download any material for which a registration fee is charged without first obtaining the express written permission of the company.

COMMUNICATION OF TRADE SECRETS: Unless expressly authorized to do so, Users are prohibited from sending, transmitting, or otherwise distributing proprietary information, data, trade secrets or other confidential information belonging to The Company. Unauthorized dissemination of such material may result in severe disciplinary action as well as substantial civil and criminal penalties under the relevant applicable espionage laws.

Duty not to Waste or Damage Computer Resources

ACCESSING THE INTERNET: To ensure security, avoid the spread of viruses and malware, and to maintain The Company's Internet Usage Policies or Acceptable Use Policies, when using a device owned by The Company while within a Company office employees may only access the Internet through The Company's network. Bypassing The Company's network security by accessing the Internet directly using techniques such as (but not limited to) VPN software, SSH tunneling, proxy, or by any other means is strictly prohibited. Wireless WAN access devices such as WiMax cards and 4G/LTE modems and any other devices that facilitate a direct connection to the Internet from a Company computer should only be used within Company offices if Internet access is not possible through The Company network.

FRIVOLOUS USE: Computer resources are not unlimited. Network bandwidth and storage capacity have finite limits, and all Users connected to the network have a responsibility to conserve these resources. As such, Users must not deliberately perform acts that waste computer resources or unfairly monopolize resources to the exclusion of others. These acts include, but are not limited to, sending mass mailings or chain letters, spending excessive amounts of time on the Internet, playing games, engaging in online chat groups or other social media, uploading or downloading large files, accessing streaming audio and/or video files, or otherwise creating unnecessary loads on network traffic associated with non-business-related uses of the Internet.

VIRUS DETECTION: Files obtained from sources outside The Company, including disks brought from home, files downloaded from the Internet, newsgroups, bulletin boards, or other online services; files attached to e-mail, and files provided by customers or vendors, may contain dangerous computer viruses that may damage The Company's computer network. Users should never download files from the Internet, accept e-mail attachments from outsiders, or use disks from non-Company sources, without first scanning the material with Company-approved virus checking software. If you suspect that a virus has been introduced into The Company's network, notify the IT Manager immediately.

Blocking Sites with Inappropriate Content

The Company has policies in place on the network firewalls that block access to Internet sites containing sexually explicit or other subject material deemed inappropriate in the workplace including (but not limited to) Drug Abuse; Hacking; Illegal or Unethical practices; Discrimination; Violence; Child Abuse; Gambling; Extremist Groups; Malicious Websites, and violations of said policies are logged.

Blocking Sites with Non-productive Content

The Company has policies in place on the network firewalls that block access to Internet sites containing non-work-related content such as (but not limited to) Online Gaming; Streaming Media; Peer-to-peer File Sharing; Internet Radio or TV, and violations of said policies are logged.